Re: Responses to 2025-2026 Budget Analysis

Please find below responses to your questions sent on March 17, 2025, regarding the Fiscal Year 2026 Proposed Budget for the Planning & Development Department (PDD).

1. Director Bush, please outline any new programs or initiatives you would like to see implemented in FY2026?

We are looking forward to launching our educational series around the Community Benefits Ordinance, which is described in greater detail below as part of our CBO update. Our team is always seeking opportunities to provide residents and community stakeholders with greater information and agency to make decisions about the future development of their neighborhoods, and hope that this initiative could also grow over time to cover more aspects of the planning and development processes.

Additionally, we are collaborating with HRD and the Detroit Housing Commission on the revisioning of several public housing sites, as well as launching a new CHOICE planning initiative. This partnership will strengthen the collaborative work to date to ensure we're planning to maintain affordable housing in all areas of the city, but particularly those with growing market pressures adjacent to greater public and private investment. This also provides an opportunity to reconsider how this housing could be better physically integrated into the city and enable residents to benefit from shared services and amenities.

a. What improvements to the department would you like to see?

We are working on continuing to improve consistency across our planning regions and initiatives. One of the strengths of our West/Central/East team organization is the ability for staff to build stronger relationships with communities and have greater accountability to residents, but we can continue to improve in our messaging and communications across teams and projects so that the public has a consistently high caliber experience and set of expectations regardless of which team they interact with.

We are also in the process of consolidating lessons learned from our last decade of neighborhood planning work and Strategic Neighborhood Fund initiatives to improve the way we communicate the development process, help set community expectations for implementation by unpacking the role of the city compared with or in partnership with the private market, and matching community priorities with available resources to have the most catalytic impact. As we continue to plan for more neighborhoods, we have learned a lot about what types of tools and investments are most successful based on different market strengths and physical characteristics of neighborhoods. I am looking forward to our ability to best help residents understand the pathways toward greater investment and quality of life, and the ways that we can invest in different types of projects (facade improvements, activation, clean ups) that help create the conditions for new business and construction. We have developed a lot more sophistication about the order of investments and steps that best support neighborhoods along their trajectory toward greater market strength and stability and intend to work these learnings and storytelling into ongoing and future plans.

2. What is the status of the purchase and development agreement of the Brodhead Armory by the Detroit Parade Company?

The Parade Company has been actively fundraising towards their $36M goal.

a. Have any status reports been submitted to council as required by the extension of the Development Agreement?

It's our understanding that at the June 25, 2024, Formal Session, The Parade Company agreed to provide Council quarterly updates regarding the status of Brodhead Armory as part of an agreement made at the table between Council President Sheffield on behalf of DCC and The Parade Company. For the current status, we would refer you to Amanda Elias, senior advisor to the Jobs and Economy team.

3. What is the status of the investigation into the actions of the previous director regarding contract approval?

a. Have any findings been issued and will they be available to the public?

This matter is being managed by Corporation Counsel and the Board of Ethics.

b. What changes, if any, have been made to prevent this from happening again?

On all contracts, PDD will continue to follow the City's long-standing, well-established policies and procedures.

4. As of March 2024, how many Tier 1 Community Benefit Agreements have been completed and signed by NACs since the passage of the ordinance?

Fifteen (15) Tier 1 Community Benefits Agreements (CBAs) have been signed by the Neighborhood Advisory Council (NAC) since the passage (2017) and amendment (2021) of the ordinance.

a. How many Tier 1 projects are expected for FY2025?

As of March 17, 2025, we have not received any requests for new Tier 1 CBO projects. Should this change, we will work with the Developer to ensure that your Honorable Body and the impacted community receive adequate notice prior to the start of the CBO process.

b. Does PDD have any suggestions to improve the CBA process?

We are constantly reviewing our process, examining best practices and are happy to receive suggestions from residents and other interested parties regarding improvements and policy changes to the CBO process to ensure that we are executing the spirit and intent of the Community Benefits Ordinance.

Our Legislative Affairs and Equitable Development Division, which houses the CBO, plans to launch a CBO educational series in collaboration with several City departments (CRIO, HRD, JET and the Law Department), DEGC and external stakeholders in FY 2026. This series will serve as an excellent opportunity to inform and engage residents (especially those not residing in an area/district that has a CBO Tier 1 project) about the history of the ordinance, qualifiers for a Tier 1 and Tier 2 CBO project, the NAC, CBO process – including approval by your Honorable Body and CRIO's enforcement process once the Community Benefits Agreement (CBA) is approved.

We look forward to sharing more details in the immediate future and to continued engagement and collaboration between your offices, City Council's Legislative Policy Division, the Equitable Development Task Force and other interested parties.

5. Please provide the status of the update to the Master Plan of Policies.

a. What is the plan to engage the community on the update?

We kicked off community engagement for the Master Plan with an online Visioning Survey in April 2024 to gauge residents' current attitudes and future aspirations for Detroit. Over 1,800 people responded to the survey. We then took our engagement to the neighborhoods with our City Voices Tour, completing 60 pop-ups from July to October 2024 all across the City.

This strategy was designed to meet people where they already are and expand our reach beyond our highly engaged residents by popping up at existing events, programs and locations around Detroit. To find pop-ups, we partnered with the Department of Neighborhoods, City Council offices, City departments, the Detroit Parks Coalition, the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation Small Business Liaisons, local businesses, and community organizations including E. Warren Development Corp. and Cody Rouge Community Action Alliance. During the City Voices Tour, we engaged over 2,800 Detroit residents and other stakeholders through fun and interactive activities focused on public feedback around vision, values, and planning priorities.

We are about to launch our next round of community engagement, starting with five in-person public policy workshops, a virtual public policy workshop, and a youth summit in April. Future engagement is anticipated to include three rounds of district-by-district community meetings and three open houses. PDD is currently assessing our engagement results so far to identify additional needs for outreach and engagement that will be carried out by our department.

In addition, we have a regular outreach strategy that includes our project website (plandetroit.com), newsletter (over 2,400 subscribers), social media, flyer drops, bus ads, and quarterly updates at the Department of Neighborhoods monthly meetings, City Council Formal Session, and City Planning Commission. In addition, we are as responsive as possible to requests to share information about the Master Plan at existing meetings like the Equitable Development Task Force, Green Task Force, Detroit Future City, and Detroit Neighborhoods Forum. In total, we've attended 44 meetings to share information about the Master Plan with Detroit residents and other stakeholders, excluding meetings with City departments or other partner agencies (e.g., DLBA, DEGC, DBA), and are actively Looking at ways we can increase this type of outreach.

Finally, we have convened the Master Plan Advisory Group five times and will continue to convene them regularly throughout the remainder of the project.

b. Will Council Members be involved in the process?

PDD will continue to provide formal quarterly updates to City Council on the Master Plan update throughout the life of the project. PDD continues to provide monthly updates on the Master Plan in our PLAN meetings with each Council Member and staff. In our PLAN meetings, we provide status updates on the plan and the engagement process. We ask for recommendations for locations for meetings or recommendations for community members to participate in the process (for example, City Council members recommended community members for the MPAG and for the Policy Workshops). City Council members and staff are also welcome to attend Master Plan Advisory Group meetings as well as our community meetings. Finally, City Council will be responsible for formally adopting the Master Plan of Policies once complete. We are currently exploring additional opportunities for PDD to receive policy input from Councilmembers prior to adoption.

c. What is the anticipated timeline and budget for the process?

We anticipate submitting a final draft of the Master Plan for adoption by Quarter 2 of 2026. The budget for the plan is approximately $1.5 Million, with just under $1 Million from City funds, $500,000 from CBDG-DR planning funds, and $50,000 coming from a Hudson Webber Foundation grant.

6. Please list any neighborhood planning studies scheduled for FY26.

a. How much funds are allocated for planning studies?

PDD is looking forward to launching the Denby Whittier Framework Plan this summer. We have $330,000 allocated for this project and are in the process of selecting a consultant team to assist with the plan.

b. Is there a timeline for the completion of all Framework Plans?

PDD is currently focused on the city-wide Master Plan of Policies update process. Through the Master Plan process, we will look to prioritize how we do more specific planning efforts in areas of the city that do not currently have framework plans.

7. On page B43-5, Total Revenues are zeroed out after FY2024. What were the sources of revenues and why are they zeroed out?

PDD revenues are generated from fees charged by the City for processing Sign Waivers. The totals listed on page B43-5 represent the total collected from fees in FY2024 (General Fund column) and cumulative revenues collected to date. Totals will remain at "zero" in the remaining columns until the end of each respective fiscal year.

8. As of March 2, 2025, the department lists 3 vacant FTE positions.

a. What positions are currently vacant?

As of March 18, 2025, the following positions are vacant:

1. Planner 3 – Historic Preservation (recently vacated)
2. Planner 1 – Historic Preservation (currently in interview process)
3. Planner 3 – Strategic Planning (new hire to start March 24)

b. What has been the difficulty in filling vacancies?

Recently PDD has not experienced any significant difficulties in filling vacancies, with many well-qualified candidates applying to our positions.

9. Please list all DLBA properties that are currently being held from disposition at the request of the PDD.

The land review area process contemplated in the Detroit Land Bank Authority's Vacant Land Policy offers City departments an opportunity to guide or coordinate sales. Through this process, City planning teams can set land aside for greenspace activation or affordable housing – uses that may align better with the outcomes of local planning initiatives than listing through the Neighborhood Lot program. In other areas, City staff may want to review applications for property to ensure alignment with community design standards, for example. In that spirit, Planning & Development Department staff have coordinated several land review areas with colleagues at the Detroit Land Bank Authority. Currently, these areas include 1,461 DLBA-owned vacant lots, though of these, only 681 are not currently listed solely because of the land review area – the remaining properties face additional barriers such as title issues, delinquent taxes, zoning, parcel size limitations, or a lack of eligible neighbors. Please find a list of these properties attached.

a. What is the process for PDD to request these holds?

To request a land review area, City department staff must complete a standardized form outlining the geographic extent, purpose, duration, need, and importantly, a contact person who can speak with interested residents, among other relevant details. Land bank staff then create a map of the area, including the number and status of impacted properties. City staff then take this form and map and secure the approval of their department director, the Director of the Planning & Development or Director of Housing & Revitalization Department, the Department of Neighborhoods Director, and land bank leadership.

b. What is the process for releasing the hold on the properties?

Detroit Land Bank Authority and City staff are in constant communication about the status of individual properties. If a resident expresses interest in purchasing a property located in a land review area, land bank staff will request a signoff from the relevant City department project manager. In calendar year 2024, for example, City departments provided such approval for 1,183 parcels across the city. If a City department would like to retire the entirety of their land review area, department staff can do so at any time.

c. Is there a maximum length of time these properties can be held?

Land review areas are implemented for a defined term, typically for 6 or 12 months. If a City department wishes to extend the land review area, department staff must go through the application process again.

10. What is the status of the I-375 Redevelopment Project?

a. Has the plan for the redevelopment been finalized?

PDD is leading the neighborhood framework process for the I-375 project with a focus on developing recommendations for zoning and land-use for the surplus land created by the project. Additionally, we are analyzing urban design and mobility related to our existing communities. The framework plan is expected to be complete in the Fall.

b. When is construction expected to begin?

Preliminary construction work is expected to begin in Fall 2025, with heavy construction starting in Spring 2026.

11. What are the next steps and timeline for the redevelopment of the Renaissance Center?

a. What City approvals will be needed before the project moves forward?

The Renaissance Center's development team is currently seeking state support for the project, likely in the form of legislation that would raise the funding cap for the transformational brownfields program. If successful, the developers will finalize and propose their project plan to the City, the details of which will determine the approvals needed. Based on the vision that was recently laid out for City Council at its Planning and Economic Development Committee, approvals would likely range from a community benefits agreement and tax incentives to routine construction permits. It is expected that the steps above would occur over the next year or so.

12. Please provide an update on the Detroit Neighborhood Solar Initiative.

a. Will the project expand to additional neighborhoods?

There are no current plans to expand to additional neighborhoods. The goal of the Neighborhood Solar Initiative was to produce enough clean energy to power 127 core municipal buildings which the current 5 neighborhood sites will do.

b. Can the public track the amount of energy generated by the arrays?

Developers must provide the City with data on energy generated by each project in connection with its payment for said energy. Providing the generation data determines how developers are able to invoice us on a per kW or per MW basis.
