RE: RESOLUTION DECLARING MAY 27TH AS VIOLET T. LEWIS DAY IN THE CITY OF DETROIT

City Council President Mary Sheffield has requested the Legislative Policy Division (LPD) to produce a resolution declaring May 27th as Violet T. Lewis Day. The requested resolution is attached.

Please reach out if we can be of further assistance.

BY CITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT MARY SHEFFIELD

RESOLUTION DECLARING MAY 27TH AS VIOLET T. LEWIS DAY IN THE CITY OF DETROIT

- WHEREAS Violet Temple Lewis (1897–1968) was a pioneering Black educator, entrepreneur, and institution-builder who founded the Lewis College of Business, the only historically Black college in the State of Michigan and one of only two historically Black business colleges in the nation at the time of its operation; and ¹
- WHEREAS Lewis was born in Lima, Ohio, graduated from Wilberforce University, and began her professional career at Selma University, later serving briefly as a bookkeeper for the Madame C.J. Walker Company; she then taught business subjects before founding her own school during the Great Depression; and ^{2 3}
- WHEREAS Lewis established the Lewis College of Business in Indianapolis in 1925 with the mission of training Black women for professional business careers in an era when secretarial and business positions remained virtually inaccessible to them; and in 1935, at the invitation of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, she brought the institution to Detroit, where it operated on John R Street from 1941 to 1976 before relocating to larger facilities due to growth; and over its first fifty years, the college educated more than 20,000 students, transforming lives and expanding economic opportunity for Black students—most of them Black women—across the region; and ^{1 4}
- WHEREAS Lewis secured support from Black churches, the Negro press, and civic organizations, built an enduring legacy of educational access and self-determination for Detroit’s Black population, contributing to the city’s civic and economic vitality; and ⁴
- WHEREAS In 1978, the Lewis Business College became the Lewis College of Business, a two-year, degree-granting institution and was officially recognized as Michigan’s only HBCU by the U.S. Department of Education in 1957; and ^{1 5}
- WHEREAS Lewis’ innovative model of culturally grounded business education and leadership continues to inspire future generations, and her legacy endures in the reestablishment of the Lewis College of Business, renamed the Pensole Lewis College of Business & Design; and
- WHEREAS May 27th marks the date of Violet T. Lewis’ birth, and this observance presents an opportunity to annually honor her life’s work, to celebrate Black educational excellence, and to encourage Detroiters to pursue paths of entrepreneurship, civic service, and scholarship; and ⁶
- WHEREAS Commemorating Violet T. Lewis Day aligns with the City of Detroit’s commitment to racial equity, educational opportunity, and the celebration of local historical figures who advanced civil rights and economic justice; NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT
- RESOLVED That the Detroit City Council hereby declares May 27th as Violet T. Lewis Day in the City of Detroit, recognizing her indelible contributions to education and Black economic empowerment; BE IT FURTHER
- RESOLVED That the Detroit City Clerk transmit copies of this resolution to the Mayor’s Office, the Pensole Lewis College of Business & Design and the Michigan Black Business Alliance as a testament to Violet T. Lewis’ enduring impact and Detroit’s commitment to honoring her legacy.
