RE: The Creation and Usage of Micro Grids in Detroit

Detroit's electric grid is antiquated and the cause of the cause of many electric outages, such as the failure of the electric warning systems causing the flooding alert systems at the pumping stations to fail last summer.

Micro grids are being built all over the country to help cities contend with insufficient electric grids and outdated electric systems.

Detroit is ready for micro grid projects.

Please research the City of Detroit's plans for developing micro grids and what areas of the city are being considered?

How will the Federal government, the State of Michigan and the Detroit City Council aid in these projects?

What role would the DTE and the Public Lighting Authority play?

Please submit the report to my office.

Thank you.
